

BHHCS EIS CONTRACTOR FACT SHEET

May 2014

- Labat Environmental, Inc., of Bellevue, Nebraska, has been contracted by VA to perform the integrated environmental impact study of the VA BHHCS' proposed reconfiguration.
- Labat is a multi-disciplinary environmental consulting firm and a Service-Disabled Veteran-Owned Small Business. They have over 30 years of experience in environmental management, consultation, and compliance and have provided expert environmental and historic preservation support services to many Federal agencies including VA.
- Labat has a current 5-year contract with the VA Office of Construction and Facilities Management, Central Region, for environmental and historic preservation support services for major planning, design, and construction projects. The main focus of this contract is NEPA and related NHPA compliance.
- Labat also has a current 5-year, nationwide, VA contract for historic preservation support services, including property identification/evaluation, consultation, agreement development, and condition assessment.
- The firm's NEPA support has included high-profile assessments of controversial projects and the preparation and review of hundreds of programmatic and project-specific documents.
